ONG SING.

A Survivor of the Famous Jeannette in Los Angeles.

His Bright New York Wife is His Constant Companion.

Is Down Here for the Purpose of ing Up" Gamblers.

Him How to Capture the Gamblers— Every Gambler a High-binder.

There is at present in this city one of the few survivors of probably the most daring and disastrous naval enterprises ever projected, and this man is a Chinaman and a professing Christian. "Charles Tong Sing, Arctic Steamer Jeannette—Fidelity, Zeal and Obedience." is the inscription this little and Obedience," is the inscription this little man has on a gold medal he wears, on the reverse side of which is a well-executed engraving of the steamer "Constitution,United States Navy," and which was presented him by the officers of the Jeannette as a trophy of the terrible voyage he made.

The history Charley gives of his adventures in the frozen North he has written and had published in a small volume, and these volumes he sells as part of his means of volumes he sells as part of his means of now obtaining a livelihood. His life's history is remarkably good reading, especially as being the experiences of a Chinaman. He left his home in China at the early age of 13, and as a sallor and cook visited a large portion of the habitable globe. At the time of the call for volunteers togo in the Ill-rated Jeannette expedition, Charley was at work in a hotel in Lathrop, but immediately went to San Francisco, and passing the examination of his physical condition by Lieut. DeLong, enlisted as the steward of the Jeannette.

The incidents of the voyage of the Jean-ing the examination of his physical condition by Lieut. DeLong, enlisted as the steward of the Jeannette.

The incidents of the voyage of the Jeannette are still fresh in the minds of the people of this coast, and there is no room in the limited space of a newspaper article for their repetition. When the vessel was crushed by the ice in June, 1881, Charley was assigned to the second boat that left the side, which was commanded by Lieut. Danenhower, who has since committed suicide, bis mind having been affected by the horrors of that winter. From the time they left the Jeannette, until they landed at the mouth of the river Lena, or the 17th of the following September, the party in the boat with Charley were drifting through the ice, surrounded by terrible blinding fors and battling with storms.

When they landed, worn out with privation and suffering, they fortunately met with part of a tribe of Esquimaux, who took them in and cared for them until the Russian exploring party, sent to their aid by the Czar, reached them on their way through the snows of Northern Siberia and conveyed them by sledges and other means of conveyance to St. Petersburg, and thence home again to San Francisco.

Charley was also one of the party sent out by the United States Government to search for the Greely party, holding the position at that time of chief steward to the Thetis.

After his return from his trip to the Artice circle Charle, while in New York, met with a German girl named Christine Morse, and charmed by her manner and her sympathy with him when he narrated his sufferings to her, he became a Christian at her request and finally they were married. Charley has made a good husband to his white wife, and the couple appear to get along much better than some of the married Charley has made a good husband to his white wife, and the couple appear to get along much better than some of the married charles his right of his mission was to inculeate.

they are a bad class of men, but that, in many instances, they are under the control of others, who are infinitely worse, but who, under the garb of respectable merchants, are receiving regular revenues from the high-binders all the time, and manage to keep them under their thumbs by threats of handing them over to the officers on the first symptoms of mutiny.

This Christianized Chinaman is in Los Angeles with the purpose in view of closing the doors of the fan tan games run by the Chinamen here, and claims that he will be able to do so in short order, if he is accorded the cooperation of the police authorities. He had a long and carnest conversation with Chief Darcy yesterday, and will reputation in the past is a sufficient guarantee of his earnestness and good faith in the matter, and, if he is successful in but closing a part of the hells now existing in Chinatown, his visit will result in great good to the city and undoubted satisfaction to himself.

residence of Mr. Broderie. Some of the witnesses swore that they recognized the prisoner as the man who was seen at that time running away from the hearse with a bundle under his arm, and others swore that he was about the same appearing man. No important new points were elicited from the witnesses yesterday afternoon, but it is rumored that in the examination of some of the witnesses who will; appear to-day, there will be enough fresh testimony of a conclusive character as to make the prisoner's guilt clear.

Sheely's line of defense is to prove an alibi, and with this intent he has a number of witnesses in attendance from San Pedro, who he thinks will be able to establish the alibi beyond a doubt. The case will be continued at 9 o'clock this morning.

TERRIBLY MANGLED.

A Man Run Over at San Pedro and Killed.

Coroner Meredith yesterday went to San Pedro to hold an inquest over the remains of Harry Flynn, who was run over and killed by a switch engine belonging to the Southern Pacific company yesterday morning.

Thomas McDonald testified: I knew the deceased. About a quarter to 8 this morning I saw him on the track. He had a pair-of oars in his hands. At the time the switch engine was backing up the track it passed me. I looked up and noticed Flynn crossing the track in front of the engine. I saw the cars fly on one side of the track. I could not see Flynn. He was found lying in the middle of the track. I heard the engine bell ringing at the time. The engine was running faster than I ever saw it. William Hard, a switchman, testified: About 8 o'clock this morning I was riding on the hind end of a flat car when I heard saw Thomas Gorman throwing his hands and pointing under the car. I felt the car joiting. I jumped up and signaled the engineer to stop. The engine and car passed over the deceased. The bell was ringing all the time.

gineer to stop. The engine and car passed over the deceased. The bell was ringing all the time.

Thomas Gorman's testimony was about the same as the above.

Charles McComas testified: I had charge of the switch engine this morning. At about 3 o'clock I was backing up through the yard and when near the Lindscow's wharf the fareman spoke to me. I think he said stop, at the same time I feit the engine joit. I looked out of the window and saw the brakeman give me a signal to stop. I did sow I looked back and saw a man lying on the track. I think the engine was running about four miles per hour at the time of the accident.

The testimony of Charles J. Willeys, the fireman on the engine. As about the same as that of the engineer.

The jury brought in a verdict that the deceased came to his death by being accidentally run over by a switch engine belonging to the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, in said company's yard, and that they attach no blame to said company or its employes.

What T. E. Rowan Has to Say About

To a question concerning the letting of the contract for the new courthouse last evening Hon. T. E. Rowan, President of the Board of Supervisors, said:

"Yes, we let the contract today to O. E. Brady, a contractor and builder of San Francisco, for the sum of $375,000. Charley has made a good husband to his white wife, and the couple appear to get along much better than some of the martied people who claim the proud prerogative of Caucasian blood.

As Charley became more interested in the teachings of his new religion he made uphis mind that his mission was to inculeate some of the doctrines he had learned into the minds of his friends from the Flowery Kingdom who had not yet embraced the teachings of Christianity, and with this idea in view he abandoned his thriving restaurant business which he had established in San Francisco and started in on a crusade against the vices of his race in that showing up the police of San Francisco, for the sun of $275,000. The Los Angeles, Pasadena and Long Beach R. R. Co. The Pasadena, Los Angeles and Long Beach Railroad company received their charter yesterday from Sacramento and will have the stock subscription books open at an early date. Many have already made application for stock, and at the present outlook the stock will all be taken within outlook the stock will all be taken within the next thirty days, and the dirt will begin to fly at once, and before the people are aware of what is going on in the railway line, there will be a double track laid between this city and Pasadena, and trains will be running every half hour, and time will be shortened between the two thriving cities to ten or fifteen minutes. They have been offered the right-of-way and depot grounds through several tracts of land if they would go that way, but the main object will be to build as near an air line as possible. They have already secured the right-of-way through to the California Coperative Colony tract, and grounds for depot purposes, and there is no doubt but what the road will be pushed for all there is in it, judging from the enterprise and go-ahead of its managers.

Ah Gin, the Chinaman who, without being a high-binder, appeared to have an ambition in that direction and started his studies for a diploma in that order by committing an assault with a deadly weapon, but got afoul of the police in time to prevent the successful accomplishment of his murderous desires, was to have been tried by Justice Austin yesterday afternoon. Ah Gin, however, thought that he ought to be given more time in which to secure witnesses to prove that he was not the blood-thirsty person the complaint made him out to be, so his case was continued until October 4th.

Katie O'Hearn was arrested the other day for being drunk and disturbing the peace, and, on being brought before Justice Austin yesterday, told the following story: She said that, with her husband, they owned a decent little home in San Pedro, but when the boom came her husband persuaded her to allow him to sell the place and come to this city to invest the proceeds. This he did on his arrival at Los Angeles by getting drunk the first day and remaining so until yesterday. Mrs. O'Hearn, seeing that her share of the money was also being swallowed, thought she would like to taste some of it, so, taking what was left, she also went off on a toot. The result was her arrest. East Los Angeles Wants More Police

In another column will be found the card of an East Los Angeles merchant who, on the part of himself and many other citizens of his locality, asks for more police protection than they now

It appears that East Los Angeles has no regular police detail. mounted policeman arrives upon the ground about 8:30 o'clock in the evenguardianship of a section of our city containing above 6000 inhabitants—a population approximating that of Marysville.

From the foregoing it would seem that the citizens of East Los Angeles are not fairly treated in the matter of police protection. Aside from the virtue of fairness, it certainly cannot be considered good public policy to leave a portion of our city—covering an area some three miles square—in charge of a single mounted night nan and without any police proection whatever during the day.

East Los Angeles is an integral part of the city of Los Angeles. It bears its proper share of the public burden and is certainly entitled to its fair share of public benefits. Let East Los Angeles have whatever police protection ner citizens may deem necessary to the preservation of the peace and the proection of life and property.

Mexican California.

Mexican, or Lower California, is a atural continuation of this State. It s a peninsula lying between the Gulf f California and the Pacific Ocean.

Fifteen miles from San Diego a stone monument marks the boundary between America and Mexico. At other points, however, the line comes within twelve miles of the city of great hopes lovely climate and magnificent bay But the stone monument does not ob literate the fact that the peninsula is a natural continuation of our Commonwealth and that sooner or later its po litical autonomy must conform to its natural topography.

In all probability, if properly approached, the Mexican Republic would willingly relinquish its political proprietary rights in the peninsula to the Americans. There are no overweaning interests that would impel the Mexican government or people to cleave to Lower California. On the contrary, there are many reasons for believing that the Mexican government could easily be induced to part with it. Not only is the strip of country under consideration remote from the seat of Mexican life, trade and government, but it is wholly separated from the Republic; cut off by a wide intervening ea-the Gulf of California-and cut

On the other hand Lower California s, as its name indicates, simply the lower or southern end of the State of California. All other points of weakness which it presents when considered as part of Mexico become points of strength when viewed as American territory.

The tremendous influx of immigrants which of late have poured into Southern California, and the constant in-crease of the human tide, have caused an overflow across the border, a fact which has commenced to bring into serious notice the peculiar geographical and political conditions of Lower California. Lower California should by all means become part of the State of California. That it will become such me time is not to be doubted.

When the work was commenced on the section of Main street that lies between Third and Fifth streets, THE TIMES called the attention of the Council to this matter, and even in that part of the street where the traffic is comparatively small it caused untold inconvenience, but where the work is now going on, in the heart of the business part of the city, it is remarkable that no serious accident has already happened. The gas and water companies knew from the time the con-tracts were signed that this paving was to be done before winter set in. yet they did not attempt to commence the work of laying these connections, to save themselves subsequent expense in the cutting of the pavement after it is finished, until the morning the contractors commenced their work in breaking up the street.

Horses Mangled.

Wednesday evening a hack team stand-ing near the Cape Horn saloon became frightened, and turned so short that the ongue was broken off within two and one tongue was broken off within two and onehalf feet of the fifth wheel. They dashed up Main street at a furious rate, and at every stride one or the other of the horses was struck by the jagged end of the tongue, inflicting many ugly gashes on their legs.
When they were stopped, near the Headquarters shoe store, the dashboard was found to be covered with spattered blood, and a pool of blood soon collected underneath them. One of the horses was so badly burt that he could hardly go when unhooked from the wrecked hack. A Hard Case.

In this matter nothing could be extracted from Huntington by the commission except that A. A. Sargent, whose name Commissioner Anderson men-tioned, would have been a most admirable man for the position. He was well and able and above suspicion. A SOP TO JONES.

Following this came a letter con upon the advisability of purchasing of Sen-ator Jones, of Nevada, the Los Angeles and Independence Raliway, so as to induce him to favor the Union Pacific and Northern to favor the Union Pacific and Northern Pacific Railroads' sinking-fund bill. He bought the road, which cost $716,000, for $200,000. Jones was hard up, and witness knew it would make Jones take a greater interest in the Pacific roads if ne took the other one off his hands, so he took it. Commissioner Anderson asked Huntington if he had any scheme for settlement to aly before the commission as to the trouble between the road and the Government, and it was decided that Huntington should prepare a report, which would be ready in fifteen days, and could be annexed to his testimony.

CONGRESS CRITICISED. Another letter brought in Huntington's opinions of socialism and the Congress of 1878. "This Congress is an agrarian camp," the letter stated. "It is composed of the worst body of men that ever got together in the scienter."

worst body of men that ever got together in the country."
"Do you recognize your sentiments in that passage?" asked Mr. Anderson.
"Well, of late years I have remarked there has been a considerable influx of Anarchists and Socialists into public places. They cannot make money themselves honestly, but $5000 is a great deal to them and they will do a lot for less."
Huntington knew nothing of the books of the Contract and Finance Company. He knew that after building the Central Pacific the company's liabilities were big and the assets nothing, and Central Pacific tock was of less value than the amount of its debts.
"I never kept the books of the company

"I never kept the books of the company and I carry most of my own business memo-randa under my hat' said he, "and they very seldom fool me." UNCLE SAM THE ROAD'S DEBTOR.

After recess the witness went into the After recess the witness went into the methods and men employed in starting the Central Pacific. "The Government," he said, "took away the company's power of repaying them quickly when it subsidized parallel lines. The company has fulfilled every obligation to the Government. It is they who have broken the contract. The expenses of construction were enormous. At present the Government owes the Central Pacific $2,000,000 which it will not pay, and it won't pay the interest on anything it once has in its grasp."

STINGY PAY. Huntington asserted that the Govern

Huntington asserted that the Government paid the Central Pacific less for carrying the mails over the Sierra Nevadas than it paid on level Eastern roads.

Commissioner Littler asked for official data as to this, as it was a grievous charge against the Government.

Mr. Huntington stated that he believed there was more than politics behind the investigation. Numerous parties are short on the market of Central Pacific, and he believed they are helping to push this investigation to bring the stock down. The witness stated that although a Director of the Pacific Mail, he never voted at a meeting, as he was more interested in rail ways antagonistic to it. Everything he did was in the interest of the railways.

Gen. Granville M. Dodge testified regarding the various details of the construction of the Union Pacific, etc.

AT ORANGE.

The City Councilmen and Their Wives Have a Good Time. Several weeks ago Maj. Jones, of the City Council, surprised his brothers in the lawmaking business by stating that the Coun-cilmen and their families had been invited to visit Orange and partake of the hospitality of the Hotel Pal-myra. The Council gladly accepted the invitation, and last Wednesday evening the following ladles and gentlemen left for the city of oranges and flowers: Mr. and Mrs.

following ladles and gentlemen left for the city of oranges and flowers: Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Breed, Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Collins, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Perry, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Hiller, Mr. and Mrs. J. Frankenfield, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Eaton, Mrs. Dr. J. C. Hall, of Charleston, Ill.; C. Willard, Miss J. A. Gavitt, Miss A. L. Gavitt, G. L. Stearns, Mrs. M. Snyder, M. Teed and A. L. Teal.

On arriving at their destination they were met by Mr. C. Z. Culver, to whom all were indebted for the good time they had. Their host proved equal to the occasion and a more enjoyable time was never had. After doing justice to one of the best dinners that was ever spread in Southern California, the evening was spent in a social manner that made the whole party wish that the hour for their return home would never come. Just before the time for them to take the train the flowery speakers of the Council made neat little speeches in which they thanked Mr. Culver for his hospitality, and that gentleman returned the compliment in grand style. The party returned home last evening thoroughly pleased with their trip.

FACTS ABOUT FULLERTON. lierton is a town site on the San Dieg-ion of the Santa Fé Railroad, twenty e miles southwest of Los Angeles and e miles north of Anaheim. It is a regula on on that railway and all trains will stop Fullerton has the most productive country tributary to it of any new town site laid out in Southern California; the country around is noted for its fertile soil and the great abundance of water. The water is derived from the Anaheim ditch, which, as is well known, is the most copious supply in Southern California. Oranges grow to the greatest perfection. The famous Gliman piace is the "show" walnut grove in the State, visitors being taken walnut grove in the State, visitors being taken it as a sample of what can be done in the way of having a perfect walnut grove. Oranges and limes from this section are noted throughout the State as being the finest produced anywhere, and commanding the top market price. Land in the vicinity of Fullerton is etili at a very reasonable figure, as the country is comparatively little known, being at present out of the way of the general lines of travel. With the advent of the Santa Fé Baliroad, which is expected within ninety days, property will advance very materially, as it will then a list introduced to many seeking product a lad at lawer prices than that asked for in and about Passadena.

OSTRUCHES.

The original and largest ostrich farm is only me mile from the town, and is a great source of interest to tourists. One hundred ostriches hay be counted.

runs through the center of the town, one hundred ostrick runs through the center of the town, one hundred feet wide and ten miles long. This will be one of the finest avenues in the Southern country. Lined with umbrageous shadernes, and the soil is naturally adopted to readmaking, packing as hard as asphalt, and never dusty or muddy.

conse deposits of oil and asphalts of the neighborhood.

Ordinary land without water can be pur-haused for from $75 to $800 per acre; best land with water at $500 to $700 per acre; not there is out little doubt that all this land will sell eadily at $1000 per acre within six months rom date.

IMPROYEMENTS IN THE TOWN OF FULLERION. A $25,000 hotel is now in course of erection and will be finished within ninety days; two other $10,000 brick buildings are now contracted for and will be finished within the same time. A bank with $100,000 capital is incorporated, and will put up a $15,000 pressed-brick building immediately. Quite a number of houses are now in course of construction and many lots have been sold conditionally upon brick buildings being erected thereon immediately. A cement sidewalk six feet wide is now being laid upon all the principal streets; water piped in heavy iron pipes and under good pressure through the streets.

CLIMATE.

Fullerton being but eight miles from the ocean, gets the sea breeze much sconer than towns on the other side of the foothill, thus producing a lower temperature in summer, and at the same time the proximity to the ocean causes a more equal and warmer temperature. ocean causes a more equal and warmer tem-perature in winter.

Fullerton has the best soil, the best water, the best climate, the largest and most produc-tive territory tributary to it, the best railroad facilities, and there is more cash being ex-pended in it on permanent improvements than on any new town in Southern California.

They know a good thing when they see it. Men from the East come here daily to invest, but we find none showing such good judgment as men coming from Wichita, Kansas, which city has had some of her best men here lately buying. A few days ago, J. R. Stone, of Wichita, bought of F. D. Lanterman & Co. 73 acres, known as the Derrell ranch, for $27,000 acres, known as the Derrell ranch, for $27,000 acres. wichita, bought of F. D. Mr. Rouse, of the same city, bought last February 15 acres on the corner of Vermont and Adams for $17,000, which the same firm sold for him last week for $12,000. Not a bad investment, either. We understand from good authority that there will be a great many people come here from Wichita to invest. Come and we will try to make you happy. e you happy.

It is the only medicine that always cures bloody flux, cholera morbus, dysentery and diarrhoæa, and it never ails. It costs 25 cents and is worth 25 when needed. Mr. A. The first dose quieted and eased the pain and the second dose cured him completely; he also says that he cured a bad case of bloody flux with the same bottle. Sold by C. H. Hance.

The following evening the lady was to repeat her programme. When she beheld the sorry plight of her "Komeo" she burst into tears and couldn't speak. One of them, seeing the lady's grief, stood up on his chair and made the following speech: "Boys, last night we got Romeo drunk. We had fun with him and a good time."

Then turning to the lady he said: "But, mum, we didn't mean to hurt your feelings, 'pon honor, we didn't, mum. We ain't the men to hurt no woman that comes to this camp, and we're sorry for you. Now, boys. I propose to pass the hat to buy this lady a new 'Romeo.' Let every man chip in."

He passed the hat himself and when he took it up on the stage there were 280 gold dollars counted out.

"You take this, mum," said the speaker, "and buy you a new one, and you won't feel hurt at us, mum; will you, for we didn't mean to hurt your feelin's."

shouted, as the unfortunate athlete scrambled into the dory again, swearing like a pirate. "Trying to upset the boot, are you?"

"Who struck me? Somebody gave me a knock on the neck just as I was lifting."

"Nonsense!" cried nearly every mann the crowd. "You wasn't touched."

"I'll take my oath I felt something hit me. If this is a skin game I want to know it." Bracing himself firmly in the boat, he again grasped the dish with both hands and raised it three feet, and then fish, athlete and all went backward among the tinkers. Man, fish, oars and balers were mixed up for a moment. At last the Savannah "hefter" made a break for the dock, and, once upon it, sank down upon a pile of boards. He was as white as a sheet, and was covered with scales from head to foot.

"Send for a doctor!" he gasped, as the men crowded around.

"Why? What's the matter with you, anyway?"

"I've had a stroke," whispered the victim. "The moment I stooped to lift it I felt it a runnin' all over me. It's in our family; but I've got it bad," and here he rubbed his arms and legs. "It knocked me clean off my feet." he added, "and my limbs felt like sticks. Send—" and here a roar of laughter broke from the men, and one of them, seizing him by the arms, jerked him to his feet.

"You're all right, my lad; only next time don't go fooling around old Amos. It's a hard nut."

GEORGE'S PROPAGANDA.

PROGRESS THE IDEAS.

Free Coffee and Free Soup and Per manent and Transient Public Charities Does Not Lessen Pov-erty—The Chicago Tribune on "Georgeism."

J. E. Miller, of San Francisco, suggests in last week's Standard that the Anti-Poverty Society. of New York city, should supply coal to the very poor soup and coffee houses." In reply Henry George says:

"If the giving of soup and coffee and coal and clothing; if the establishment of orphanages and asylums and charitable institutions, could lessen poverty, we should long ago have ceased to have the poor with us. But experience proves that they do nothing of the kind. We already have, and are rapidly increasing, a great class of paupers and somi-paupers, and this in a country of manhood suffrage, where the vote of the most degraded and vicious may neutralize the vote of the virtuous and thoughtful. . . We believe that in this wide and richly-freighted world there is room for all, work for all, food for all, shelter for all; and that there is no reason, save the injustice which defines to labor access to natural opportunities, why in such a country as this and in such a stage of civilization as this every man of ordinary powers should not be able to provide himself and those whom nature has made iependent upon him, not only with all the necessaries of life, but with all comforts and reasonable luxuries as well.

Criticising the anthracite coal compaof orphanages and asylums and charit-

Triticising the anthracite coal companies for limiting the production for September, the Standard says:

The idea of allowing the American people the amount of coal they need never enters their heads; what they try to do is to supply just that amount of coal—and no more—that the American people can use without breaking down the price. Against the imperative needs of American coal they set their power to furnish Americans with American oal or not, as they please; and the problem they try to solve twelve times a year is how to exact from Americans the largest possible tribute in return for the least possible supply of coal.

Of the prohibition movement the paper says:

The fact that 172,000 votes were cast for prohibition in the recent election in Texas is a significant fact that politicians of the old parties must take into consideration. It may not indicate the speedy triumph of the effort to make men temperate by legislative enactment, but it does clearly indicate that the people are turning their backs on old and dead issues and dividing into parties on the living question of the time. This is as it should be.

On another page Henry George says:

The term socialist has been applied in a general way, to all who desire change in existing social conditions, and especially to all who would in any extend the cooperative functions of government. I, for instance, ever since the publication of "Progress and Poverty," have been by many termed a Bocialist. There are many men, however, throughout the country who, holding substantially the same view that I do, and believing that the changes to be made in our institutions and laws should be in one direction individualistic and in another socialists, have accepted the name. But the men who, by attempting to force their own narrow views and impracticable programme the United Labor party in New York, have compelled that party to repudiate them, are socialists, have accepted the name. But the men who by attempting to force their own narrow views and impracticable programme di theories originated and have taken the deepest root, as German socialists.

Here again, is another extract from this week's issue:

The Chicago Tribune discourses in a derecy way on the "impotence or cowardice of the Eastern press," in dealing with what it calls "Georgeism." It says that with scarcely an exception, the New York and Boston papers fail to meet Heary George on fair ground or make any respectable answer to his arguments. If Georgeism is to be exploded, it must be by showing that it is inexpedient and incompatible with justice and right." If the press of New York has no writers capable of doing this the Chicago Tribune offers to lend them a few.

Let the young Lochinyars come out

Mork has no writers capable of doing this the Chicago Tribune offers to lend them a few.

Let the young Lochinvars come out off the West and set about demolishing the platform of the United Labor party. We welcome discussions, and the equity of our claim is so obvious that we do not believe that any fair man can fail to accept the loctrine if the once hears it intelligently stated. Our Western contemporary is right about one thing, and that is that the policy of our Eastern papers does not click the growth of the opinions it views with such alarm; but its own plan will be equally ineffective. Our cause is the cause of truth and righteousness, and nothing can prevail against it.

Henry George reprints: "What Does Henry George Mean? What is said on Both Sides." by Rev. Joseph Pullman, in the Methodist Review, and comments editorially upon it as follows: "There is no advantage." says Dr. Pullman, "in owning a piece of land if the Government selzes its entire revenue." This is true: and it conveys the essence of reform we aim at "There should be no advantage in owning a piece of land beyond that of absolute security for all that labor may produce upon it. Land ownership under our present system, gives to the landowner an altogether anjustifiable advantage over his fellow-men, in that it enables him not only to exact from the latter a tribute or tax for those advantages of position or superior had nothing to produce, but which are altogether due to the bounty of Providence or the growth of society, but also to exercise an absoulte yet power and allow and forbid at his pleasure his fellow-man to work on any terms.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

An Appeal to the Clergymen of Southern California.

South Pasadena, Sept. 32.—[To the Editor of The Times.] You are aware that the National Woman's Christain Temperance Union has issued a call for Sunday, November 13th, to be observed as a day of prayer over all the world, for the cause of temperance. Ministers are everywhere invited to preach temperance sermons on this day, giving their congregations a look at the White Ribbon Army, in its "peaceful war for God and home and every land."

Knowing how willingly the ministers of Southern California respond to these calls of the W.C.T.U., I make bold to ask that, on this day, you will call the attention of your people to a department of our work which is too often overlooked.

I refer to the tobacco habit, of which Harriet Beecher Stowe says only one pasage in the Bible can be construed as favorable, and that is, "Let him that is fithy be filty still."

Perhaps some of your members smoke, but do they wish the Sanday actual boys to filthy still."

Perhaps some of your members smoke, but do they wish the Sunday-school boys to follow their example?

They are now taught in our day-schools that it is scientifically wrong to use this polsonous weed. Cannot, ought not the pup t to utter a moral amen! to this?

Anny are unaware how frequently invalids go home from church prostrated by being forced to inhale the odor of tobacco during the entire service, it being too often the happy exception that one can obtain a seat without having a smoker for a neighbor.

seat without having a smoker for a neighbor.
Surely this state of things is not pleasing to the Great Physician. As co-workers with Him, who was pure and holy, shall we not work a little harder to undermine a custom over which many a boy and young man, who looks Sunday after Sunday into the eyes that read this plea, may stumble into the path that leads to an unhallowed grave?

Into the path that leads to an unnanowed grave?

To any' minister who will drop me a postal card, with his address, I will send some facts about tobacco, compiled by a biother minister. Respectfully yours, for that cleanliness which is next to godliness, Mrs. M. D. Lord, Superintendent of Narcotics for the Southern California W. C. T. U., South Pasadena, Cal.

A Policeman Wanted in East Los Angeles.

Los Angeles. Sept. 32.—[To the Editor of The Times.] An active, vigilant policeman, that will keep order on the streets, and give the people in that part of the city the protection they so much need is wanted in East Los Angeles. It has been suggested that Chief Darcy be allowed ten extra men, so that he can place one at East Los Angeles, one at Boyle Heights and one at the University. The Chief is anxious to do this, and will make every effort possible to suppress crime and vice, and keep order throughout the entire city. He has made a good start in the right direction. Give him the men, and help in this good cause.

A Permit to Parade.

Los Angeles, Sept. 22.—[To the Editor of The Times.] Would it not be a good idea for the City Council to pass an ordinance prohibiting street parades without a permit from the city government? It has been found very effective throughout the East—it doing away with the Salvation Army nuisance and would help matters considerably here. Yours, etc.,

W. HARVEY.

The Highest Compliment in Montana. (Chicago Mail.)

Luther Latim Mills, ex-State's Attorney, has been out in the mountains of Montana. After his arrival at Butte City he was anxious to see one of the characters which has given the West a literature peculiar to itself. He didn't have far to walk, for the mountains run right down into the streets of Butte. Above a crown of snow, regal in the sun the year out; below the treasures that make men everything except contented, Mr. Mills came upon one of those miners in whose grasp there was something higher than any "order" ever gave. Having stopped the old man and looked into his face, that, appeared as honest as the hills, Mr. Mills said:

"I am looking for a man by the name of Yed Snith. It you know a withing of Yed Snith. It you know a withing of Yed Snith. It you know a withing and the said."

"I am looking for a man by the name of Yed Smith. Do you know anything about hin, sir?"
"Is he a friend of yours?" was the quick query.

"I hope he is," replied Mr. Mills.
The old man looked the Chicago lawyer in the face just a moment, and answered:

answered:
"Well, stranger, I know him. And he'll stand without hitchin'."
That was a tribute from the heart.

Pensions Unknown in China.
[Boston Journal.]
The Commissioner of Pensions is en-The Commissioner of Pensions is engaged in gathering together and compiling for public use a history or sketch of the pension service of every country in the world. He has secured the cooperation of the United States Consuls, who are making a collection of the data for him where he cannot get it conveniently from foreign government officials themselves. The latest report received is from the Government of China, which shows that army pensions are unknown to the Kingdom. The only case on record of sick and disabled soldiers being beneficiaries at the hands of the Government of China, is mentioned with much flourish in the archives of the country, where it is recorded that the dowager Empress with her own hands generously presented two sick soldiers each with a box of pills. It is to be trusted that Gen. Black will use this sterling argument against an increased pension list mercifully and sparingly when he comes to defend the. CAST HOURS OF KERNAGHAN.

The murderer Kernaghan, who will be hung on next Friday, unless executive clemency interferes, was seen in his cell yesterday by a reporter. Chief Jailer Rogers was engaged in conversation with Kernaghan over his spiritual welfare when the reporter entered the murderer's cell.

welfare when the reporter entered the murderer's cell.

The murderer had donned a clean shirt, and with a turned-down collar and black silk necktie, presented a tolerably respectable appearance.

Jailer Rogers was trying hard to prevail upon the doomed man to accept the services of a minister of some refigious body to attend to his spiritual wants on the scaffold, to all of which Kernaghan gave a stubborn and decided refusal. At the same time he quoted certain chapters from the Bible where true repentance, though it be at the last moment, is acceptable to the Almighty. He positively refused to have any minister present at his execution, although since his incarceration he has been baptized into the Roman Catholic faith. Latterly, however, he has renounced not only this religion, but that of the Episcopal Church, to which he formerly belonged.

As to the disposition of his body after death, he said that it did not trouble him, as he understood they would bury him to get rid of him. "It matters not;" said he, "where my body is for the time being. When the general judgment day comes I will be on hand." He again quoted Scripture showing that "he who believeth never dies." Hardly any question can be put to him regarding death or the final termination of this life that he does not answer by quoting something from the Bible to meet the case.

dies." Hardly any question can be put to him regarding death or the final termination of this life that he does not answer by quoting something from the Bible to meet the case.

When asked if he desired to have a new suit of clothes for the important occasion on next Friday he said: "Not outward appearance mattereth not in the sight of God. It is the heart that the Lord looketh at and not the appearance of the body."

Finding that nothing could be accomplished by pursuing this line of conversation any further, Capt. Rogers broached the subject of his pateuts, asking Kernaghan what disposition he would like to make of his interests before Friday next. The murderer answered by saying that he was so much oposed to law that if he assigned his interests in the patents to any person it would involve a lawsuit: hence he would let the whole thing die along with himself.

The reporter remarked that if he did not make an assignment of his patents they would, after his death revert to his wife. At the mention of his wife Kernaghan paused for a few moments and replied: "Well, I'd as soon she'd have it as anybody else."

He complained that his sleep was not as sound as he would wish it to be. Rogers volunteered to let him have a little stimulants for the purpose of quieting his nerves, but he declined, saying he never was a drinking man and that he was sure he would act bravely when the time came for him to face the trying ordeal. Here the chief jailer was called away, and Kernaghan suddenly stopped talking, and looking the reporter square in the face with a most determined and wicked look, said: "I believe you are a reporter, and I do not like reporters." Being asked if the reporters had unfairly represented him, he jumped from the bed-cot and paced up and down the loor of his cell, his color changing from red to a purple, knitting his brows and grinding his teeth with subdued rage to find he had been talking with a press representative without knowing it. All attempts after this failed to get him to utter a single word.

tive without knowing it. All attempts after this failed to get him to utter a single word.

A visit to the top floor revealed the rope by which the murderer will be swung into eternity. It is being stretched to its fullest capacity, and when the gallows is put in place, it will be made fast to a cross-beam over the trap through which the body of Kernaghan will swing.

A visit to the cell of Lee Sare Bo, the Chinaman, who will follow Kernaghan one week later, found that condemned murderer as lively as, a cricket and as chirpy as a sparrow. This Mongolian has taken kindly to religion, having accepted the Roman Catholic faith, and believes that no sooner is 'he released from this sphere than he will fly straight to heaven.

He complained bitterly, however, of the meanness of some Mongolian who stole his wife immediately after his arrest, saying he thought it was too bad to take her for nothing, as she cost him $500 in China ten years ago, besides her passage money out here.

As to the disposition of his body after death, that gave him no trouble whatever. The priest said that he would agree to look after that. If it were considered advisable to have his bones sent back to China, all right; if not, let them remain here. His father and mother were dead, and his cousins went back on him because he had no money. He asserted his innocence, and said that because he had no friends his life was sworn away. On being asked if he would like to see the execution of Kernaghan, he said: "No; my time come next; me see plenty by execution of Kernaghan, he said: "No; my time come next; me see plenty by and by."

The prison officials speak well of Bo's behavior, and are inclined to doubt his uilt.

Dr. Bowers's cell, on the top floor was not visited, as this "gentleman" dislikes to be interviewed.
